

February 5, 2007

SKYLER HIRES TECH VETS

Skyler Technology, a Walnut Creek, Calif.-based provider of market data processing technology, has appointed Bill Lupien and Terry Rickard, co-founders of trading technology vendor OptiMark, to its board of directors. Lupien is also a former chief executive of Instinet, while Rickard has held various roles at Orincon, a provider of data processing tools for government and weapons organizations.

SKYLER TOUTS C3 FOR REG NMS

Skyler Technology, a provider of data processing technology, has begun marketing its C3 Database as a solution for compliance with Reg NMS's best-execution requirements. Officials say that C3's ability to simultaneously capture order information, national best bid and offer, and top levels of an order book means that data is synchronized and stored, allowing easy retrieval for compliance purposes.